

Neil Ranasinghe has over 20 years of experience in the pharmaceutical industry, gained within commercial, medical and R&D.

For the last 7 years he has been working at Bristol Myers-Squibb managing a number of MSL teams in the UK and Ireland. Neil has used his experiences, within medical and commercial settings, to actively help shape policy and practice of the BMS MSL function in the European and Asia-Pacific regions.

He is keen to nurture partnership between industry and medicine to advance valued research in the UK and resultant benefits to patients.