

Mr. Stefan Woronka currently heads the Service Line for Industrial Security Services within Siemens AG in Germany. The group is responsible for supporting customers around the world with projects on Industrial Security. This ranges from assessments on the current status over implementations of measures to regularly monitoring the security infrastructure. This group also covers projects and services on Condition Monitoring and Reliability. Stefan Woronka joined Siemens in 1997 and assumed different positions prior to taking over the current position.