

Kemal Celik, VP, Smart Grid Technologies & Grid Management, NEXANT

Kemal Celik is a vice-president at Nexant's Grid Management Division, responsible for software development for distribution networks' analysis.

- He is a member of Nexant's executive management team.
- He has been in charge of product development and project deployment for several electric power transmission and distribution network analysis applications.
- During his tenure at Nexant for 15 years, he also led or was a member of consulting projects for smart grid, power quality and energy markets' design and deployment.

Education & Affiliations

- Ph.D., Electrical Engineering: Texas A&M, TX, 1991
- M.S., Electrical Engineering: Virginia Tech, VI, 1988
- B.S., Electrical Engineering: Bogazici University, Turkey, 1986
- Senior member @ IEEE