

Christopher Caudill, Director, United LNG

W. Christopher Caudill (Chris), Chief Commercial Officer, United LNG, LP. ("United")

As Chief Commercial Officer, Chris is one of the founding members of United. Prior to establishing United, Chris worked for Quantum Reservoir Impact (QRI), an engineering and finance consulting group led by Dr. Nansen Saleri former head of reservoir management for Saudi Aramco. Chris worked on QRI's strategic assessment, business development and finance teams; conducting portfolio analysis of national owned oil companies' asset base and advised clients on upstream integrated project management.

From 2007 to 2010, Chris worked at Sabco Oil and Gas Corporation where he managed all in-house land operations including: exploration, drilling, and production acquisitions and divestitures.

Prior to his entrance in the energy industry Chris worked as an Advance Representative in the Bush White House, and was a minor league baseball player for the Cincinnati Reds Major League Baseball Organization. After his season with the Reds, Chris continued to work with the Advance Office and also worked as project manager for Worldwide Strategic Partners, LP (WSP), a diplomatic, political and commercial consulting firm ran by United's current Chairman president Stephen Payne. WSP's clients included the Moscow Petroleum Federation, SOCAR (State Oil Company of Azerbaijan), the Government of Pakistan, and Itera Gas Company.

Chris holds a BA in Political Science from Southwestern University.