

Professor Bryn James, Head of Armoured Protection, DSTL

Bryn is a physicist. He has spent his career investigating the interaction of externally applied forces with solid matter. He has worked in armour systems for the last 20 years and has contributed many papers to relevant International Symposia. Bryn is a Senior Fellow in Dstl and is the Technical Leader of the Dstl Physical Protection Group. He is Head of the Land Integrated Survivability Technology Exploitation Network (LISTEN). He initiated and led the Parsifal programme for operational support in armour and protection for Operation Telic and Operation Herrick. For this he was awarded a MOD Chief Scientific Adviser's commendation.